

INTERNAL ADDRESS SYSTEM

The internal address provides each room with a familiar, unique naming convention. The addresses first character is the beginning letter of the pavilion in which it belongs to. The second character is a number informed by the floor the room is located. The suite and room number are based off of the current suite-room naming conventions. Ultimately, the internal address is informed by the first two sets of information standards in order to keep consistent, unique room names throughout the building.

W 102-3

